

Positive Social Impact

Supply Chain Management

A Resilient and Agile Supply Chain is Essential for our Operations and Stakeholders.

Why Is It Important?

PETRONAS relies on a range of products and services throughout our value chain, sourced from a vast global network of suppliers.

Ethical and sustainable supply chains aid in product development, safeguard workers' rights, and enhance operational safety. We view our supply chain as an opportunity to contribute to positive socio-economic impacts. It allows us to channel financial capital into businesses, including Small and Medium Enterprises (SMEs), empowering their growth in environmental protection, responsible sourcing and procurement practices.

What Is Our Approach?

Our suppliers must adhere to policies and standards in managing environmental and social impacts across our integrated oil and gas value chain.

We have zero tolerance towards non-compliance, including our environmental and social standards. We conduct capacity building and engagement sessions to build capability and strengthen the resilience of the industry. To this end, we have been collaborating with nine financial institutions on the Vendor Financing Programme (VFP) to facilitate access to funding for vendors since 2018. We have also introduced Special Oil and Gas Services and Equipment (OGSE) Financing which targets underserved vendors with less than five years of experience. In driving sustainability, we partnered with industry players and government agencies by participating in the National OGSE Industry Blueprint roadshows in the Klang Valley, Sabah and Sarawak. We also participated in strategic forums such as the National OGSE Sustainability Forum.

We collaborated with OGSE industry players through our Vendor Development Programme (VDP) and SMEs to promote local entrepreneurship to contribute to socio-economic growth and improve communities through an increase in employment opportunities.
