Foreword by President & Group CEO

Since being introduced in 2012, the PETRONAS Code of Conduct and Business Ethics (CoBE) has been the definitive guide for the standards of behaviour expected of each and every employee of the PETRONAS Group of Companies in all their professional undertakings and business dealings.

Today, our operating ecosystem is increasingly complex and rapidly evolving. There are emerging and heightened expectations on all aspects of business beyond profit, including but not limited to governance and compliance, social and environmental impact, innovation and technology. Accordingly, this has prompted stakeholders and customers alike to prioritise trust as a non-negotiable prerequisite for partnership and collaboration.

Corporations like PETRONAS are also increasingly held accountable for our legal, moral, and ethical standards, as well as the conduct of individual employees, each equally responsible for the reputation that we collectively steward. As PETRONAS sets out to deliver on our purpose to be “a progressive energy and solutions partner enriching lives for a sustainable future,” the CoBE will become even more important as an essential reference on how we deliver excellence in this institution.

The adaptation and updating of the CoBE continues to be an imperative for PETRONAS, given our expansive global footprint across more than 100 countries, each with its own legal and cultural context. Notwithstanding the provisions that have already been adapted to meet local requirements, and the Country Supplements that address specific needs of certain jurisdictions, PETRONAS will continue to undertake all necessary measures to ensure that these standards are clearly understood and consistently upheld by every employee and stakeholder across all geographies.

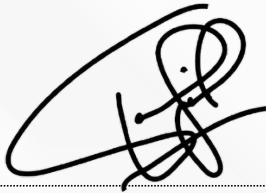

This brings us to today – this timely revision of the CoBE reflects more recent developments in international law, industry best practices, technological advancements, and global environmental, social and governance (ESG) standards. It aims to serve as an even more robust guide for ethical and compliant decision-making across our global operations, building on its enduring cornerstone formed by the PETRONAS Shared Values of Loyalty, Integrity, Professionalism and Cohesiveness.

This strengthened CoBE applies universally to all PETRONAS Group employees and directors. It shall also extend to contractors, subcontractors, consultants, agents, representatives, and all who perform work or services for or on behalf of the PETRONAS Group. Simply put, every individual entrusted with representing PETRONAS must comply with the CoBE's strict prohibitions against misconduct, improper solicitation, bribery and corruption in any form.

Upholding the CoBE is a collective responsibility. As each of us is charged with a sacred duty of trust – amanah – to safeguard this institution, integrity and excellence must guide our everyday actions and decisions.

It is only through the cooperation and compliance of each and every one of us that together, we will build a PETRONAS that is resilient and trusted, delivering continued shared success and enriching the lives of those we serve.

Thank you.

Tan Sri Tengku Muhammad Taufik
President and Group Chief Executive Officer

Introduction

At PETRONAS, integrity is the foundation of how we do business. Our success is measured not only by performance and results but also by the trust we earn from our stakeholders.

The Code of Conduct and Business Ethics (“CoBE” or “Code”) defines the standards of behaviour and ethical conduct expected of everyone to whom it applies. It embodies our Shared Values of Professionalism, Loyalty, Integrity, and Cohesiveness — values that continue to underpin our success. The CoBE serves as the foundation for integrity and ethical decision-making, the cornerstone of the trust we have built over the years.

Adopting a principles-based approach, each section of the CoBE outlines key principles, practical guidance, decision-making prompts, and references to related policies, standards, guidelines, and procedures that provide further guidance on specific subject matters. The Code translates our values into action, helping us make the right choices, especially in complex or uncertain situations.

Recognising our international presence, certain provisions are adapted through CoBE Country Supplements to reflect local laws and regulations. Together, the CoBE and its relevant Country Supplement form a single, comprehensive document.

The CoBE Guide complements the CoBE by offering practical examples, decision-making tips, and direction on where to seek further advice. It is designed as a user-friendly resource to help all of us understand how to apply the Code in our daily work.

Each subject matter makes reference to policies, standards, guidelines or procedures. You are required to also read and understand these reference documents to gain a more comprehensive understanding.

You are expected to familiarise yourself with the CoBE and its accompanying documents. Your commitment to upholding both the letter and spirit of the Code is vital to PETRONAS’ continued success. Every action we take reflects not only on us as individuals, but also on PETRONAS as a whole.

If you have any doubts or questions about the application or interpretation of the CoBE and its related documents, please seek advice from your Head of Department, Human Resource Department, Legal Department, or the Legal Compliance Department (“LCD”).

Core Values and Culture

Part I:

Core Values and Culture

1. Application

- 1.1 This Code is intended to apply to every employee of every PETRONAS group company worldwide. It is also intended to apply to every director (executive and non-executive) for those companies, except as otherwise stated in this Code. Your failure to comply may have severe consequences to PETRONAS and may result in disciplinary action against you, or even your dismissal from PETRONAS, subject to the requirements of applicable laws.
- 1.2 This Code applies to you in your capacity as a third party conducting business with PETRONAS. We require the same level of integrity and business conduct from you, whether you are engaged as an agent, an intermediary, engaged to provide goods and/or services for, jointly with or on behalf of PETRONAS or a counterparty in a business transaction with PETRONAS. The Code also applies to the contingent workforce, such as interns, apprentices, proteges, gig workers and volunteers. "Third Parties" refer to both individuals and corporate entities including but not limited to director, officer, employee, agent, consultant, nominee, representative, licensee, adviser, sub-contractors, any service provider. Your failure to comply may have severe consequences for both PETRONAS and yourself, and may result in PETRONAS requesting you to take remedial steps to address a breach, or even suspending or terminating the business relationship with you, and seeking to enforce any other contractual rights we may have against you for breaching this Code.
- 1.3 Joint venture companies in which PETRONAS is a non-controlling stakeholder and associated companies are encouraged to adopt these or similar principles and standards.
- 1.4 If you have any concerns, you may raise your concern through the accessible channels for reporting concerns and grievances as provided by the Company. Please refer to the PETRONAS and/or other subsidiaries' website for the relevant reporting channels.

Please also refer to our Whistleblowing Policy available on PETRONAS website for further information.

- 1.5 This Code is prepared in both English and Bahasa Malaysia and may appear in other languages. In the event of any conflict, the English version will prevail.
- 1.6 This Code is implemented (with certain local adaptations) worldwide in a phased roll out, commencing with its entry into effect for Malaysian group of companies on 1 April 2026 ("Effective Date"). In that regard, it replaces the previous PETRONAS Code of Conduct and Business Ethics. Any misconduct committed before the Effective Date of this Code will be dealt with under the previous PETRONAS Code of Conduct and Business Ethics (or other applicable policies and terms and conditions of service) in effect for your company at the time of the misconduct.
- 1.7 If there is any conflict between the law and the rule or policy set out in this Code, you should comply with the law. However, if there is any conflict between the local custom or policy with this Code, you are called upon to comply with this Code. If you perceive that a provision of this Code conflicts with the law in your jurisdiction, you should consult with your HoD, HR Department, the Legal Compliance Department (LCD), or your PETRONAS contact person (as the case may be) rather than disregard this Code without consultation.
- 1.8 The provisions of this Code may be amended or waived by PETRONAS from time-to-time at PETRONAS' sole discretion. PETRONAS expects that waivers would only be granted in exceptional circumstances and then only in keeping with applicable law and PETRONAS' policies and procedures. The provisions of this Code may be supplemented or modified for your jurisdiction through your respective CoBE Country Supplement that have been approved through the LCD. In particular, provisions concerning disciplinary procedures and actions for your jurisdiction may be set out in a CoBE Country Supplement for your jurisdiction. If no such provisions are set out, the standard disciplinary rules, and practices for dealing with violations of company policy will apply, in every instance subject to the requirements of applicable law in your jurisdiction. This Code may be implemented through a handbook or contract terms and conditions, or similar manual or document, which may address additional matters beyond the scope of this Code. Please seek advice from LCD for information about the CoBE Country Supplement in effect for your jurisdiction (if any). Any such CoBE Country Supplement will be considered part of this Code for your jurisdiction.
- 1.9 This Code does not identify or set out every law, policy or procedure that may apply to you in the performance of your role. You are responsible for familiarizing yourself with the relevant laws and other PETRONAS policies and procedures that apply to you in connection with your role with PETRONAS. This Code does not constitute legal advice.
- 1.10 To help you understand and interpret this Code, a user-friendly guide to the Code titled "The PETRONAS CoBE Guide", is made available and linked as a reference document within in this Code. In the event of any conflict between the PETRONAS CoBE Guide and this Code, this Code (as supplemented or modified for your jurisdiction) shall prevail.
- 1.11 In addition to the above, certain sections under this Code are linked to the corresponding policies and guidelines relevant to each subject matter. PETRONAS, at its sole discretion reserves the right to modify, revise or cancel any policy or guidelines from time to time.

- 1.12 This Code does not seek to address every situation you may encounter in the course of your employment or in conducting business with PETRONAS. Explanatory statements or examples set out under this Code may or may not be applicable to your situation/relationship/arrangement with PETRONAS and act to serve as guidance only. This Code is not a substitute of your own duty, responsibility, and accountability to comply with all laws applicable to you or your business, nor a substitute for exercising your good judgment and discretion in making business decisions.

1.1 Conflict of interest

- a) A conflict of interest can exist when an individual is in a position to take advantage of his or her role at PETRONAS for his or her personal benefit, including the benefit of his or her family and friends, in which his or her interest may conflict/potentially conflict with PETRONAS' interest.

- d) A conflict of interest will undermine the values of good faith, fidelity, diligence, and integrity in the performance of your duties and obligations as expected by PETRONAS.

You must therefore avoid conflicts of interest between your personal dealings and your duties and responsibilities in the conduct of PETRONAS' business. In particular, the use of PETRONAS office position, confidential information, assets, and other PETRONAS resources for personal gain, or for the advantage of others with whom you are associated, is prohibited.

1.2 The situations under which conflicts of interest may arise include, but are not limited to:

Your failure to inform PETRONAS when a conflict of interest (or potential conflict of interest situation as described above) becomes known to you and/or failure to comply with the requirements of PETRONAS will be deemed to be in position of conflict for which appropriate disciplinary action may be taken against you.

- 16.2 In this context, PETRONAS requires you to observe and comply with competition laws of all countries in which PETRONAS operates and/or has business dealings with.
- 16.3 You shall ensure that your dealings with business partners (e.g., customers and suppliers), contractors, sub-contractors, competitors, vendors, agents, representatives and governmental authorities at all times reflect fair and proper business practices and are in compliance with the laws and regulations governing free and fair competition. In furtherance of this requirement, employees are obligated to comply with the PETRONAS Competition Law Standard, including other applicable internal policies, standards, guidelines, and procedures, a copy of which is available from the LCD.
- 16.4 You shall avoid any anticompetitive behavior, in particular in dealing with competitors to avoid any cartel-like agreements or coordination such as price-fixing, market sharing, bid-rigging etc. You should also be cautious when dealing with market-sensitive information, when participating in trade associations, when collaborating with competitors, and when entering into agreements with distributors. You should also ensure that all merger control requirements, including the necessary notification requirements are considered when you undertake any merger and acquisition transactions.
- 16.5 It is PETRONAS' policy that if any directors, employees or third party acting on behalf of PETRONAS engage in, participate in or suggest any conduct which is not in compliance with competition laws, the person is deemed to be in breach of this Code, and will be subject to appropriate consequences, including potential removal from directorship, termination of employment or termination of contractual relationship. If you are unsure about compliance of your activities with competition laws, you must contact the LCD or your PETRONAS contact person.

- 16.6.2 Competition laws generally prohibit anti-competitive behaviour, in particular cartel-like agreements or coordination between competitors. Not only formal but also informal agreements fall within such prohibition,
- 16.6.3 Competition laws also prohibit abusive conduct by dominant companies. A company is generally considered to have a dominant position if it is able to exercise a significant degree of market power over its customers or suppliers.
- 16.6.4 Prior merger control notification and clearance of the competent competition law authorities may also be required for mergers and acquisitions transactions.

- e) Adverse publicity (reputation), waste of internal resources, and additional costs (e.g., legal fees);
- f) Competition law dispute resolution.

Any mergers and acquisitions undertaken by PETRONAS may also be subject to foreign direct investment and foreign subsidiaries screening regulations in applicable jurisdictions, particularly where such investments involve certain sensitive sectors or strategic assets which relate to national security.
